

Down, Down, Down.

One hand full things I miss, the other broken promises
I dropped a few regrets along the way
I was in a rush couldn't pick them up
It seems they always do catch up
Come back to bite you in another way

I was on the road and I saw you there
A little lost along the way
I got closer I could not compare
The difference

Down, down, down
It leads you
Down, down, down

The years they pass you by just like the shine that's in your eyes
Water makes the colour fade away
Maybe the colour will return maybe the sun will cease to burn
Maybe time will turn back the days

I was on the road and I saw you there
A little lost along the way
I got closer I could not compare
The difference

Down, down, down
It leads you
Down, down, down

And though it's what they said, no one meant your dreams were coming true
It gets much harder then, the years are catching up to you and it's true.

It leads you, down, down, down
It leads you, down, down, down
It leads you, down, down, down
It leads you, down, down, down
